

New Homeowners

Find Eager Buyers Settling Into New Homes

New homeowners are stable, creditworthy, have above average income, and more importantly – they're ready to buy. The best time to reach them is immediately after they buy a home. New homeowners spend an average of 8-10 times more than an established resident over a 2-year period. Melissa Data's New Homeowners mailing lists contain over 24 million records compiled from property transfers and deed recordings.
